AUGUST 8 - 13, 2010

A RUG HOOKING CAMP IN SAN MIGUEL DE ALLENDE, GUANAJUATO, MEXICO

Welcome to Rug Hooking Knows No Borders, a rug hooking camp in San Miguel de Allende, August 8 through 13, 2010, celebrating the work and artistry of the Rug Hook Project- Las Rancheritas of Agustin Gonzales.

Set in the central mountains in the state of Guanajuato, San Miguel de Allende is one of the grand colonial cities of Mexico with a Canadian/US population of 8,000. Agustin Gonzales, is a rural agricultural village of 200 families one generation removed from the indigenous people of the region. The Rug Hooking knows No Borders experience is designed to explore and celebrate both. Morning classes in San Miguel de Allende with visits to meet with the rug hookers of Agustin Gonzales in the afternoon are part of the opportunities available at this camp. The camp will be housed in the center of historic San Miguel de Allende on the jardin, or main plaza of the city, with easy access to the fabulous architecture, shopping, and art of this grand vacation destination.

In addition, historic walking tours, visits to local hot springs, and participation in art for children are options open to campers and non-camper attendees.

Michele Wise of Washington state joins Anne Bossinot of Ontario, Canada, and Linda Rae Coughlin of New Jersey as instructors in classes focusing stylistically on the wide-cut primitive designs of Las Rancheritas, the Rug Hook Project of Agustin Gonzales. Rug hookers are encouraged to choose one of the fifty designs offered by the Las Rancheritas artists, available for purchase through Rug Rug Art and Supply (www.rughookproject.com or call 503-648-3979).

THE TEACHERS

Michele Wise has been hooking for 12 years. She has been teaching rug hooking and other related wool art for the last 6 years. She is a retired high school teacher who is passionate about teaching and promoting rug hooking. Her hooking reflects many styles and multiple subjects. Michele enjoys humor and applies that in some of her hooking. She has spent the last 20 years visiting Mexico and being attracted to the arts of the Mexican people. Because of this experience, her palette has more colorful hues. Her job as a teacher is to nurture the creative energy of her students and introduce new techniques and materials to encourage their creativity. She is the director of Western Teachers' Workshop, belongs to ATHA, TIGHR, Green Mountain Guild, and McGown Guild. She has written articles for ATHA and has had some of her rugs published. She runs two rug hooking retreats each year and a rug camp.

Linda Rae Coughlin

With a lifelong history in fiber art, Linda Rae Coughlin's fervor and focus for the past 19 years has been rug hooking. A contemporary fiber artist, author, curator, lecturer, workshop leader, photographer, and rug restorer, she has traveled the world promoting the "art" of rug hooking. A recipient of numerous grants, Linda Rae was awarded a 2009 Mid Atlantic Council on the Arts fellowship for her series of rugs having to do with "women's issues". She holds a BFA and is currently pursuing her Master's degree in textile art. Her passion is unleashing the potential for creativity and expressing the authentic self.

Anne Boissinot lives in the province of Ontario, Canada and has been a certified teacher of rug hooking for many years with the Ontario Hooking Craft Guild Teachers' Branch as well as a McGown Teacher. At University, Anne focused on Art History (as well as being a member of TIGHR the International Guild, ATHA, the OHCG and other hooking groups across Canada).

Anne is a well respected teacher across Canada and in the U. S. and enjoys hooking, designing, and dyeing fabric. Her articles and rug hooking pieces (as well as designs) have appeared in periodicals, newsletters, and Rug Hooking Magazine. Anne has played leadership roles in various rug-teaching organizations in both the U. S. and Ontario. She says that continuous learning helps keep her "out of the box and open to new ideas that can be used in rug hooking." Dyeing fabric, creating new formulas, and hooking anything from a fine cut to a wide cut (as well as encouraging students) are on her list of favorites.
